

'The culture at IAG is one of innovation over conformity. This approach has to be backed up by a flexible but robust technology platform, particularly in light of our expansion into the Asian marketplace.

NGIT provides the professional expertise and high service levels that underpin our operations, allowing us to focus on our primary concerns – meeting the needs and expectations of our clients.'

'Our business success is built around understanding a client's requirements and delivering quality solutions.'

NGIT took time to understand our business and our people before designing a robust and cost-effective solution.

Crucially, they were able to communicate solutions in a non-technical manner which clearly demonstrated that our requirements were being met.'

'It may seem obvious, but small companies have the same requirements as much larger ones. In other words, we need the same levels of service, availability, security and functionality as the largest corporate, but we don't want the cost or the bureaucracy it might imply.

NGIT has delivered on all counts: they are responsive, service-focused and proactive.

Moreover, they understand that we don't want to be overwhelmed with solutions that, while they may be elegant technically, don't satisfy the simple human test. I can thoroughly recommend the experience.'

'Information technology plays a vital role in the provision of modern medical care. Doctors are increasingly reliant on computers and the internet as important parts of practice infrastructure.

NGIT has been able to provide us with a very high standard of service and customer care.

Prompt and efficient aftercare is essential to the smooth running of the practice and the provision of services to our patients. It is our belief that IT should support and enhance the care that doctors provide. NGIT share that belief.'
