

The Next Generation

Two new IT consultants have joined the team at Next Generation IT. Michael Quittenden and Richard Gibbons are the latest recruits to a company that has seen rapid growth during the first few months of 2012.

Michael has joined Next Generation from Fultura and is looking forward to providing his new clients with the best technology on the market. Richard has joined Next Generation from Hewlett-Packard where he cut his teeth as a technology consultant.